Saint Patrick's Day

On Wednesday, March 18th, 30 FODARA members came together to celebrate another fun St. Patrick's Day event at Fibber MaGee's in historic downtown Sunnyvale. Since we could not hold our event in the Fireside Room at De Anza College this year, we are grateful to FODARA Board Member Cindy Castillo for suggesting this new location at a traditional Irish Pub. We are grateful to our helpful "leprechauns" Susanne Chan, Melody Cheney, Maureen Gates and Gail Paccioretti for transforming the outdoor patio into a festive environment with shamrock garlands, napkins, gold coins, and Andes Crème de Menthe chocolates. Although we missed the traditional Irish meal of corned beef & cabbage with colcannon that De Anza food services director Patrick Gannon and his staff used to prepare for us, everyone enjoyed the variety of Irish dishes that were available to order. Reg and Barb Hamer said, "We enjoyed being at the Irish restaurant in Sunnyvale and eating outside. The food was delicious and it was nice to explore a new restaurant." Dolly Sandoval also joined us and said, "I was thrilled to see so many FHDA-ers from years past. It's always good to catch up on what we're all doing for fun!" To see more Kulwant Singh has now been inducted into eight Halls of Fame!

The National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) announced the Association's Hall of Fame Class of 2026. The list of inductees includes: Al Bean, University of Southern Maine; Jeff Bourne, James Madison University; Peggy Davis (posthumous), Virginia State University; Earl Edwards, UC San Diego; John Jackson, Dean College; John Parry (posthumous), Brown University; Fran Reidy, Saint Leo University; and Kulwant Singh, De Anza College. The group of deserving individuals will be honored in conjunction with the 61st Annual NACDA & Affiliates Convention at Mandalay Bay Resort in Las Vegas, Nev., at the beginning of the Association-Wide Featured Session on Monday, June 8, starting at 4 p.m

Kulwant Singh retired as athletics director at De Anza College in August 2021 after 17 years leading the athletics department, a tenure that followed a 17-year Hall of Fame soccer coaching career. Singh is a highly-regarded administrator not only in the California Community College Athletic Association (3C2A) but at the national level as well. Under Singh's leadership, De Anza enjoyed unprecedented success in the highly-regarded Coast Conference, claiming the All-Sports Championship Trophy numerous times and staking claim as one of the premier community colleges in the Golden State. Singh served as NATYCAA President in 2015-16 and was recognized as a NACDA Athletics Director of the Year (ADOY) that same year. He was a member of the NACDA Executive Committee from 2013-17 and in 2020 was named the NATYCAA L. William Miller Award recipient.

As a coach, Singh brought De Anza College soccer to the pinnacle of success on four occasions, capturing a women's title in 1993 and a men's banner in 1997. But it was what he accomplished in 1994 that cements his legacy in 3C2A soccer history. While serving as head coach of both the men's and women's teams, Singh led them both to state championships – on the same day.

That level of achievement helped define his 17-year coaching career – seven of them while simultaneously coaching both programs – that saw him win nearly 80 percent of his games with a 375-70-73 record. Fourteen of his players went on to earn All-America honors, more than 100 transferred with athletics scholarships to four-year schools, and two of his teams earned Scholar Team honors from the 3C2A. Additionally, Singh has another National Championship and Gold Medal with the National and Olympic Teams Program in Amateur Women's Soccer where 15 of those players went on to play professional soccer in the W-USA League. He was named Community College National Coach of the Year in 1993 and 1995.

Following his retirement as AD, Singh stepped into the role of commissioner at the Central Valley Conference, a position he still holds today. Singh also currently serves on the California Community College Athletics Association (3C2A) Board of Directors. The 3C2A is comprised of 112 member colleges with 28,000 student-athletes across California.

Singh has now been inducted into eight Halls of Fame.

About NACDA: Now in its 61st year, NACDA is the professional and educational Association for more than 24,000 college athletics administrators at more than 2,300 institutions throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. NACDA manages 19 professional associations and four foundations. In addition, NACDA hosts and/or has a presence at seven major professional development events in-person annually. The NACDA & Affiliates Convention is the largest gathering of collegiate athletics administrators in the country. For more information, visit www.nacda.com.

Le Petit Trianon and the Sunken Garden

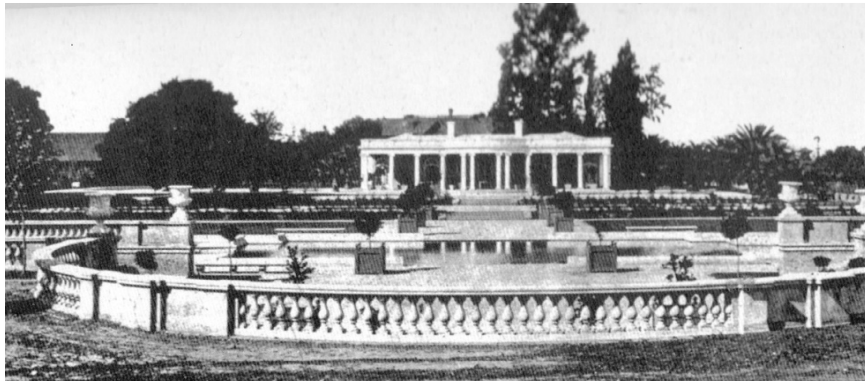

Charles Adolphe Baldwin, the son of Civil War admiral Charles Henry Baldwin, was a wealthy San Franciscan looking for an alternative home on the Peninsula and a place to grow grapes and make wine. In 1887 he became the owner of the 70-acre parcel that now encompasses most of the site of De Anza College. (De Anza is currently 114 acres.)

He planted vineyards and built the Beaulieu winery and wine cellar (Beaulieu meaning “beautiful place”) and made award-winning wine. The winery building, built in 1887, with its underground cellars, is the oldest of the Baldwin estate's late 19th century structures.

Trianon because it was a replica of Marie Antoinette’s lavish building and gardens in Paris. This assumption is not accurate, but the building was clearly modeled after French Baroque architecture and interior design.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES BALDWIN - 1913

In 1895 Baldwin built the beautiful home that now houses the California History Center. Nicknamed Le Petit Trianon, it was designed by Willis Polk and Associates, San Francisco, and was surrounded by ten acres of formal gardens in the style of Versailles. After their marriage in 1896, Charles and Virginia Ella Hobart Baldwin enjoyed their ornate pavilion and entertained lavishly. Some thought that it was called Le Petit

The portico and the arched windows of the Euphrat home are somewhat reminiscent of the Grand Trianon, constructed in Versailles in 1687. Perhaps the Euphrat house received the appellation ‘Le Petit Trianon’ by being a small house whose style was inspired by the Grand Trianon at Versailles?

Charles Baldwin's wife, Virginia Ella Hobart, was a daughter of Walter Scott Hobart, who had gained wealth from the Comstock Lode; a lode of silver located in the Virginia mountain range in Virginia City, Nevada. By 1882, the lode had produced nearly 400 million dollars in silver ore, nearly half the silver ore in the United States.

The Baldwin's pool, as it appeared from the front steps of The Pavilion.

The Baldwins had the first private swimming pool in Cupertino, located in the Sunken Garden. The site of that swimming pool is now the fountain area of the Sunken Garden. Charles and Virginia Baldwin grew grapes and produced award winning wines on the estate until damaged by root louse, phylloxera and successive years of drought that devastated local vineyards in the late 1890s.

By 1901, circumstances led the Baldwins to relocate to Colorado Springs, Colorado. The Baldwins kept and managed the Beaulieu property until their friends, Francis Carolan and his wife, Harriett Pullman Carolan, bought the estate from them in May 1909. Harriett Pullman was the daughter of George M. Pullman and an heiress to his railroad car company fortune.

In late September 1909, the Carolans celebrated their new home by inviting dozens of friends for a lavish patio dinner. For this occasion, the Sunken Garden was filled with water, and gondolas were set afloat with singing gondoliers as reported in the society columns. When the Pan-Pacific Exposition came to San Francisco in 1915, the Carolans entertained European royalty and dignitaries at the Trianon. The Carolans owned other homes and Harriett continued ownership of Beaulieu after Francis died, and while remarried to Colonel Arthur Schermerhorn.

In the late 1930s, Martha Christeson, widow of Wells Fargo Express vice-president Andrew Christeson, purchased Beaulieu. She was a benefactor of San Jose's Rose Garden and childcare efforts in the area, and was very active with the Beaulieu land, sometimes seen driving a tractor across the property. Her short tenure at the estate ended with her own death from a heart attack in The Pavilion.

After the death of Mrs. Christeson, the estate was purchased in 1940 by Emanuel Frederick Euphrat and Helen Euphrat, owners of the Pacific Can Company. The Euphrat family lived in a ranch-style home on the property. Mr. Euphrat sold the estate to Foothill Junior College District in 1959, with the understanding that he could continue to live on the land until his death. He continued to live on the De Anza site in a small ranch style home near what is now Highway 85, until he died in 1972. That house became the campus' Faculty House and remained for many years until the construction of the MLC building.

Emanuel Frederick Euphrat.

Helen Euphrat passed away in 1963, after the sale of the land but before the college had begun construction. To honor his wife's memory, who was an avid lover of fine art, Mr. Euphrat donated twenty thousand dollars to the college to purchase art that would be displayed in a campus gallery. He had suggested that Le Petite Trianon would be a fine place for an art gallery.

However, only a few years after the college opened, there was a plan to demolish Le Petit Trianon. It was located on what was to become the site of the Flint Center for the Performing Arts, so it needed to be moved. This made restoration even more difficult. The local community did not want to see the home demolished, so they began a fundraising effort to restore the home and make it a national historic landmark. The building was moved behind the library while the Flint Center was being constructed. A few years later, it was moved to its present location, and restoration work began.

Bob DeHart (center) and Bob Smithwick (right) view the progress of the move and restoration of Le Petit Trianon

It was determined that the building was not suitable for an art gallery, so the college created the Helen Euphrat Museum of Art and placed it in the A9 building, just to the side of the Flint Center. The Euphrat Museum of Art is now located inside the Visual and Performing Arts Center, commonly called the VPAC. Le Petit Trianon is now the California History Center.

Keith Pratt 1958-2025

Keith Pratt passed away in December of last year from cancer. He was a native Californian, born in Hayward in 1958, and he attended Hayward State University, SJSU, and SFSU. Keith was hired in ESL with an emphasis in composition at Foothill College in 1998. He retired in 2019 and moved to Reno, Nevada. Keith was known for his dedication to his students with his engaging classes and his office hours filled with students wanting to improve their essays. He also ran the Language Arts Writing Center for a number of years. Keith was responsible for addressing the long-neglected field of ESL reading in the ESL department by creating a required course in academic reading for all ESL students before moving on to English 1a. As the Golden Handshake was offered to faculty in 2019, Keith decided to retire and provided Language Arts faculty with excellent advice on how to navigate the process of retiring. His help will always be remembered. Keith is survived by Chikara, his life partner of 38 years

Why pay FODARA dues ... even if you don't come to events?

All FHDA retirees are automatically members of FODARA. There are no required dues, even though FODARA has operating expenses. We ask for a $10 payment each fiscal (July 1 – June 30) year. The people who come to at least one event per year are the majority of retirees who contribute. And we receive a handful of checks for dues and scholarships sent in by those of you who don't attend events. Thank you!

Did you know that FODARA gives out four scholarships each year – two for De Anza students and two for Foothill students? The past several years we have been fortunate, due to generous retirees, to increase the amounts to $1250 each. These scholarships are completely funded by all of us. When we have leftover event funds or don't need the dues for expenses, we annually add those dollars to our scholarship fund. Our operating expenses are mostly due to our listserv costs to send out five After-Words newsletters and other email reminders. All the Board members are volunteers.

So, what does FODARA provide you, other than activities? We are often the first contact when an “issue” arises with our benefits (for pre-1997 hires). This past year, we were actively involved in getting the District to pause and reevaluate whether to continue reimbursing the Medicare IRMAA tax for faculty and administrators. Those faculty and administrators who paid IRMAA premiums were indeed reimbursed in April, as usual. Unfortunately, the classified retirees did not have a clause in their contract for their reimbursement.

When retirees submit blurbs about what they've been doing, we share that information with you. We publish names and obituaries for our deceased colleagues on our website and in After-Words, when we are sent information. And families do often send us notices.

I'm hoping that you now realize that a $10 annual contribution is so minimal that you'll pay it. In July, we will email out an invoice for the 2026-2027 dues. We acknowledge that paying it is optional. You will still be a FODARA member and receive our emails and After-Words without contributing. We hope that with the reminder though, you decide to pay. Even better, if you are local, come to our events! They are fun and you get an opportunity to reconnect with colleagues.

You can pay your 2026-2027 dues early by (1) mailing a check for $10 (or more if you'd like to add to the scholarship fund), made out to FODARA, to Barbara Illowsky, 21363 Dexter Drive, Cupertino, CA 95014, or (2) Venmo money to @Barbara-Illowsky and I'll deposit it in FODARA's account. For those of you who donate to the scholarship fund, we consider your dues “paid” for the year with all your donation still going to the scholarship fund.

I hope I've convinced you! Thanks for reading this article.

FODARA Board News

From Maureen Gates:

I have thoroughly enjoyed my 14 years serving with an outstanding FODARA board team in its commitment to providing continual relations with the District, social events for retirees to enjoy interaction with colleagues, the FODARA AFTER-WORDS newsletter with articles providing varied narratives of retiree travels, talents, historical and current interest, updates regarding District benefits, commentaries from FODARA scholarship award winners, and so much more. Thanks to all for the memories.

Now, I'm looking forward to new challenges, a possible move, and, who knows? I'll see everyone at the picnic!

From Mike Paccioretti:

I was hired by De Anza College Security Chief Joe Kimble on 4-10-1979. I retired from the department on 12-30-2011. I worked for over 32 years for what was first called a security officer position. It eventually changed to peace officer and finally district police department. When I retired, I planned to relax, travel and enjoy life. After a while, I decided to check out FODARA the District retirees' organization. I needed something more to keep me busy. I attended the FODARA Bocce Ball event in Los Gatos. It was fun playing and seeing De Anza and Foothill retirees. The next event was the annual picnic. The president of the FODARA board approached me at the picnic. He asked me to go to the next board meeting. At the meeting he asked me if I would take the vacant vice president position. I accepted the position and two meetings later the president resigned making me president. Over the years the FODARA board members created more fun social activities and our membership grew. Our social events continue to be successful. For example, in 2025 the latest new event was the Bay FC Women's soccer game. We continue to have many social events; the board members make the events run smoothly. Over the last 14 years, serving as FODARA President has been an enjoyable experience. I appreciate the fact that the board members made my job easier.
